COMPLETE PEACE TREATY WORK

FINAL SESSION LASTS 28 HOURS TO SET RECORD

Anglo-Americans Outsit Slav Block to Win Victory On Bulgarian Payments.

FROM N-J WIRE SERVICES

PARIS—The peace conference commissions completed their work on treaties today when the Balkan economic commission voted after a 28-hour session to fix Bulgarian reparations at $125,000,000 in a parliamentary victory for the Anglo-Americans who outsat the eastern bloc.

Racing against today's deadline for reporting to the full conference, the Balkan commission adjourned at 2:45 p. m. (8:45 a. m. EST). It had been in session since yesterday morning, with only the briefest recesses.

The session of the commission, the last to finish its work, broke all recent records for such a body by sitting through a night and a day.

The vote, 9 to 5, was along west-Slav lines. The delegates were haggard as the session ended.

Delayed By Filibuster.

A Soviet filibuster against voting on specific figures for Bulgarian reparations finally broke down, and within an hour after that the commission completed its work.

The $125,000,000 sum for Bulgarian reparations was proposed by the British. It was adopted by a vote of 9 to 5—the usual alignment of East against West. The vote was reached only after France had moved for closure of debate, and was upheld 9 to 5.

After the vote to fix Bulgaria's bill at $125,000,000, to be divided equally between Greece and Yugoslavia, the commission adjourned.

Russians Pledge Aid.

The next to last commission to complete its work, the Italian political commission, heard a Russian promise of world cooperation, "however different our views."

Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet vice foreign minister, said the entire Soviet Union was behind the recent words of Premier Josef Stalin in a desire for peace.

Sen. Tom Connally, (D-Tex), joined Vishinsky in a peace utterance. In one of his now famous oratorical presentations, Connally thundered that "we must not, can not have another war."

Churchill Says He'll 'Carry Flag'

BLACKPOOL, Eng. — (INS) — Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced today he would remain in public life "to carry the flag" because the international situation is so serious.

To a conservative party conference meeting in Blackpool, he said:

"It would be easy for me to retire gracefully with the honor of civic freedoms and this plan crossed my mind some months ago.

"I feel, however, that the situation is so serious and that what may come is so grave that I am resolved to go forward, carrying the flag, as long as I have the necessary strength and energy."

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld — (UP)— The 39 persons who were killed when an American Overseas Airlines trans-Atlantic plane crashed near here Thursday will be buried tomorrow on the mountainside near the scene of the disaster, worst in the history of commercial aviation.

Funeral services will be conducted from a plane circling over the rugged area in which the big DC-4 went down and exploded. Rites will be read in the plane by a Catholic priest, a Protestant clergyman, and a Jewish rabbi.

Tops In Autumn Reading!

Topping interesting features n tomorrow's News-Journal, are stories on the phenomenal enrollment expansion at Ashland college and the terrific growth in the number of long distance telephone calls being made in Mansfield.

In the first of a series, you'll learn something of the background and history of Bellville—scene of gracious living. Sports fans will want to read about a Mansfielder who saw the first world series between Pittsburgh and Boston.

A new columnist, Walter White, oustanding leader in Negro community and interracial affairs, and an author of note, writes his first column for N-J readers.

Chamber's Drive Goes Over Top

Mansfield's Chamber of Commerce went over the top last night in its membership drive, topping its 1,100 quota by 32 members.

The C. of C. now has the largest membership in its history and may be the largest per capita chamber in the United States, Secretary-Manager John G. Routzon said.

The chamber's four-day annual membership drive closed at 6 p. m. yesterday with 25 teams reporting 223 new members, highest new enrollment in the history of the Mansfield C. of C.

Edging out competing teams for the four leading places in the C. of C. drive were the teams of E. J. Solomon-J. M. Weil, first place; Harry Dailey-William Swisher, second place; Saul Doppelt and Lester Zavelson, third place; and C. N. Shultz and John Shook, fourth place.

VICTORY DINNER SET FOR THURSDAY

Orlo L. Smith, chamber campaign chairman, announced that the "victory dinner," traditional after-campaign celebration, will be held next Thursday at 6:30 p. m., at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Chamber president Reese Mills will preside.

Routzon said he had received a 1946 survey report made by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C., showing that of the 73 cities surveyed, only two cities of the 25,000 to 50,000 class have memberships in excess of 1,000. They are Yakima, Wash., population of 35,000, chamber membership of 1,047, and Colorado Springs, Colo., population of 45,000, membership of 1,117.

Routzon added that this year's total has maintained the consecutive gains in membership since 1944 when the total was 840. Last year's membership totaled 973.

NICE WEEKEND

Rain Expected to Hold Off Until Monday.

Although summer-like temperatures will continue over the weekend, clouding skies tomorrow will bring rainfall by Monday, says the weatherman.

Today will continue clear; it will warm up tonight. High temperature in the Mansfield area yesterday was 81 with a low of 53 during the night. In other parts of Ohio temperatures ranged from 80 at Youngstown to 87 at Chesapeake.

What garden crops escaped damage in the recent frost, are expected to benefit by the warm air and sunny skies of the past two days.

Steelman Seeks Maritime Peace

WASHINGTON— (UP) —Reconversion Director John R. Steelman has stepped in in an attempt to untangle negotiations in the nation-wide maritime strike, it was disclosed today.

Reliable sources said Steelman was meeting with Vice Adm. William Ward Smith, chairman of the maritime commission, to discuss the maritime situation.

This disclosure came as Marion Plant, secretary for the Pacific American Shipowners, denied reports that west coast ship operators have relaxed their opposition to union demands for union security.

TYGERS SCORE 14-TO-7 OVER PORTSMOUTH

Move Into Front Rank of Ohio Football Teams With Fourth Victory.

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

PORTSMOUTH — Mansfield moved to the forefront of Ohio's schoolboy gridiron aggregations by knocking the Portsmouth Trojans off their lofty perch, 14-7, here last night in the state's top scholastic clash.

Coach Paul Snyder's husky gang of pigskin performers exhibited a clear cut superiority over the Trojans, who had been ranked third in the weekly International News Service poll. Mansfield held down sixth place in last week's voting but will be pushing Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Toledo Waite for top honors next week.

The Tygers broke the scoring ice mid-way in the first period and counted again in the early portion of the fourth canto to clinch the result. Portsmouth's only score came late in the game and was set up by the Tygers' twin bugaboos—fumbling and penalties.

Horvath, McKee Score.

Kenny Horvath made his seventh jaunt into the promised land for the initial touchdown while sprinter Bill McKee added the second. Ross Frisbee ran his string of consecutive extra-point placements to 11 although the big blocking back did miss a field goal try late in the game.

The stout Tyger defense kept highly-touted Dave Thomas in check throughout the game although veteran Bob Journey did break away for several good gains. Thomas, playing his fourth year as a Trojan regular, carried the oval nine times and

STEWART RIPS HOSPITAL DELAY

Blames Other Commissioners for Slow Progress.

Charges that "95 per cent of the delay" in building Richland county's proposed $300,000 tuberculosis sanatorium lies in the office of the county commissioners came today from one of the commissioners

Commissioner Guy F. Stewart, Democrat, charged that his two Republican colleagues were responsible for the delays in the project authorized by the voters a year ago.

"The sanatorium could have been half-built by now if they had pushed it. Ninety-five per cent of the delay lies in this office," Stewart said.

C. L. Shoup, board chairman, and John W. Selby returned last night from Columbus where they attempted to obtain approval of the sanatorium plans by the state department of health. Stewart said he had not been asked to make the trip.

Completed plans for the sanatorium, a 49-bed hospital, were submitted to the commissioners by Architect H. S. Jones last Aug. 7.

But James E. Bauman, assistant director of the state department of health, told The News-Journal today that Richland county's plans are not officially on file with the department because of the lack of formal notice from the commissioners.

This morning Shoup reported that the trip to Columbus proved futile because Dr. Roger E. Heering, director of the department of health, was not in his office.

Dreamboat at Half-Way Mark In 10,000-Mile Trip to Cairo

MAP FLIGHT PROGRAM—Officers of the Mansfield squadron, Air Force association, are pushing efforts to organize an officers' reserve flying unit here. Area ex-army flying officers are eligible to join. The army will bring planes here from Cleveland for training use during early stages of the unit's organization with the aim of permanently basing ships here. Shown discussing the "recruiting" program are, left to right: Gerald Kunkle, commander of the Mansfield Air Force association squadron; James McConnell, program committeeman, and Joseph Lesch, publicity committeeman.

Craft Nears Iceland, Due Over London at 6

LONDON—(AP)—The United States Army B-29 Pacusan Dreamboat droned steadily through the cold and lonely Arctic skies near the magnetic north pole today, having passed the halfway mark on its great arc across the top of the world from Honolulu to Cairo.

The Air Transport Command at Fort Totten, New York, reported the Dreamboat was over the Greenland icepack at 10:30 a. m., (Mansfield time), and was expected over Reykjavik, Iceland at noon.

The 74-ton craft and its crew of ten fliers headed by Col. C. S. Irvine of St. Paul, Neb., from Iceland is expected to head for London, Paris, Bern, Rome, and across the Mediterranean to the Egyptian capital.

At Reykjavik, the Dreamboat will be 6,084 miles from Honolulu on its projected 10,000-mile flight.

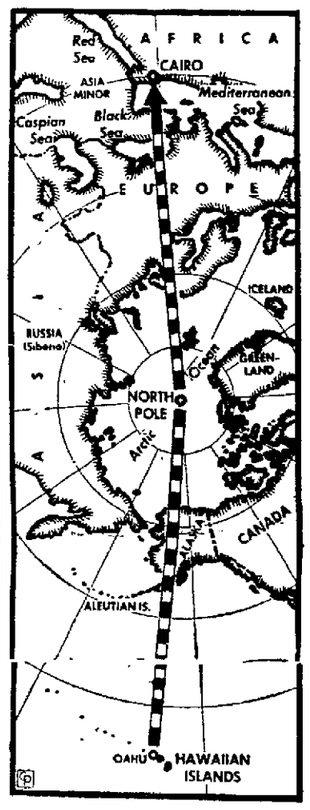
There was no immediate question of a distance record, because that was racked up last week by a navy patrol boat, the Truculent Turtle, which flew 11,236 miles non-stop from Pearce, Australia to Columbus, Ohio, a considerably longer distance than the Honolulu-to-Cairo route.

* * *

Brilliant Lights.

The Dreamboat left the Pacific behind her at 11 p. m. (EST) last night when she flew across the bleak Alaskan coast near Sitka. On to the northeast, the plane sped at an average pace of 253 miles an hour into the Arctic regions.

The craft left Hawaii with almost 13,000 gallons of gasoline.



Planned Route for Dreamboat.

May Head Farther

LONDON —(INS)— An American official in London said today that the Pacusan Dreamboat may attempt to reach Khartoum, more than 1,000 miles beyond its original goal of Cairo.

The crew members reported early today they were flying at 15,000 feet. They told of brilliant and spectacular displays of the Northern Lights A message at 4:55 a. m. (EST) reported "all well."

The plane had crossed the Pacific generally at 1,000 feet altitude Approaching Alaska, however, the crew nosed her up to clear the treacherous Alaskan and Canadian mountains.

In London By 6 P. M.

The British air ministry said it expected the Dreamboat over the Northolt airport around 6 p. m. (EST) and that a picked group of RAF Mosquito planes would be sent up to welcome the Americans.

Rome airport officials estimated the plane would be over the Italian capital shortly before midnight (EST).

When the Dreamboat lifted into the Hawaii skies at 11:21 a. m. (EST) yesterday, Col. Irvine estimated he would reach Cairo at 1 a. m. (EST) Sunday.

Truman's Palestine Stand Irks British

LONDON—(AP)—The British foreign office confirmed today that Prime Minister Attlee had sent a note—a strong one, it hinted—in reply last night to President Truman's demand for immediate and substantial Jewish immigration into Palestine.

As the British press predicted a new wave of terror over the Holy Land as a result of the president's statement, a foreign-office spokesman, disclosing the note had been sent, said it was "personal" and he did not expect that it would be made public.

He said Britain was "puzzled" to learn that Mr. Truman had acted so "precipitately" and that the president did not accept the decision of the government bearing "the responsibility for Palestine."

Last night, an official speaking for the prime minister said flatly that Mr. Truman's statement "may well jeopardize" British-sponsored negotiations to determine Palestine's future.

Behind Britain's deep concern over the presidential statement lay the following factors:

1. A feeling that Mr. Truman had affronted the British government by publishing the statement against Attlee's wishes.

2. A belief, often expressed in authoritative British quarters, that Truman's 100,000 figure for immediate Jewish immigration tends to become an absolute minimum Jewish demand.

Fear has been voiced by both the conservative press and by some government sources that Truman's statement might stir both Arabs and Jews to violence, complicating the already difficult problem of maintaining order in Palestine.

PIGS, MORE PIGS

Farmers Urged to Produce 58,000,000 Next Spring.

WASHINGTON(UP)—The agriculture department today urged the nation's farmers to produce 58,000,000 pigs next spring as insurance against another meat shortage next year.

The spring goal is approximately 13 per cent larger than last spring's actual production of 52,404,000 pigs.

The agriculture department also established new pig support prices for the year ending Oct. 1, 1947. They were set at an average of $14.25 a hundred, Chicago basis, compared with the present ceiling of $16 25 and a support level of $13. The seasonal variation ranges from $12 75 in December to $15.75 in September.

CARROLL ROBBED

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Earl Carroll, night club owner, reported to police today that a gunman "kidnaped" him from his home and dumped him on a street corner at dawn after robbing him of about $400.

CHILD'S INJURY BRINGS WARNING

Chief Urges More Care As Car Hits Boy, 8.

With another Mansfield child injured in traffic last night, marking the tenth juvenile injury in the city since school opened, Police Chief Meade K. Bates today urged both motorists and pedestrians to help cut down the traffic toll among youngsters.

Officers reported that Harper Au, jr., 8, of 203 Coul street, suffered bruises and abrasions of the face and body when struck by a car about 7:15 p. m. yesterday at Fifth and Mulberry streets.

The boy was admitted to General hospital where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

Officers quoted the driver of the car, Carl E. Fisk, 524 Johns avenue, as saying the boy ran across the intersection against a red light.

The accident increased to 47 the number of children who have been injured in auto accidents in the city this year. In all of 1945 only 44 were injured.

Urging driver and pedestrian to "proceed with care," Chief Bates singled out pedestrians for special warning.

"Most of the blame falls on the pedestrian," Bates said "I have seen many flagrant violations of traffic light regulations by pedestrians," the chief said. "They've got to heed the signals as well as the drivers."

Restaurants Can't Cut to OPA Boost!

OPA has granted a 15 per cent increase on restaurant meat dishes, but several Mansfield operators say they can't afford to take the "cut."

The control agency says the price hike is on the June 30 ceilings. Some local proprietors say they've already raised prices—in some cases—as much as 25 per cent above the June 30 level, and that they can't cut back to the 15 per cent raise adjustment — if they want to stay open.

With the current meat famine some restaurants commented that the hike "wouldn't even affect them" unless they could get sandwich fillings and something to go with the potatoes

"How can you pay retail prices for meat and eggs and sell at June 30th levels?" one restaurant owner asked "The packing houses don't have meat so that forces us to buy retail. I've already increased egg and meat dishes from 10 to 25 per cent and if I have to put prices back to 15 per cent, I can't make out!"

URGE DECONTROL

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A house committee appealed to President Truman today to order immediate decontrol of the price of newsprint. "To prevent serious difficulties and chaotic conditions in our newsprint supply."

EFFECT WIDENS

Detroit Auto Plants Feel Force of Power Strike.

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Pittsburgh's 12-day-old stalemated power strike, which had made more than 100,000 workers idle here, today began to have repercussions in other sections of the country.

Most of the producing companies here have their own generating plants but processors and fabricators, makers of finished and semi-finished products, have been forced to shut down almost unanimously throughout the 817-square mile affected area.

The Chrysler Corp mentioned the power strike as a contributing factor in an equipment shortage expected to force the layoff of 25,000 Chrysler and Briggs Manufacturing company workers in Detroit. At Huntington, W. Va., 300 men were laid off by American Car & Foundry Co. Officials blamed the power strike in part.

Legion Endorses Unified Command

SAN FRANCOSCO—(AP)—The American Legion, over the opposition of its naval bloc, added its voice today to those who endorse a single department of national defense embracing a unified command and equal status for the army, navy and airforce.

The Legion, concluding its first postwar national convention here yesterday, voted uproariously its approval of a resolution proposing a single department of national security in the president's cabinet.

Col. Paul H. Griffith of Uniontown, Pa., and Washington, D. C., was elected national commander without opposition.

ATTACK ORDERED

TEHRAN —(UP)— The Iranian general staff ordered the army today to begin a general attack against the rebel tribes in Fars province of South Iran.

MARY AND TED DIVORCED

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —(AP)— The marriage of Mary Beth Hughes and Ted North, film players, has collapsed. Miss Hughes obtained a divorce here on mental cruelty grounds. They were married in 1943, and separated last April.

U. S. Balks German Effort to Rearrest Nazis

GERMANS WOULD TRY FREED NAZIS—These three freed Nazi leaders, Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche, (left to right) would be tried by a German court for "crimes against the German people," if a proposal advanced formally today by the highest German political officials of the British and American occupation zones is followed. The resolution was adopted unanimously at a German unification conference in Bremen. Officials from the Russian and French zones did not attend.

NUERNBERG—(UP)—The U. S. military government ended an 11-hour argument with German police today by releasing Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche from American house arrest and promising them protection from re-arrest by German authorities.

Schacht and Fritzsche were told they were free to leave the separate Nuernberg apartments in which they had been barricaded since their secret departure from the Nuernberg prison last night They cannot be arrested by any German authority "until further notice."

Until telephoned orders from Brig. Gen. Walter J. Mueller, American military governor of Bavaria, arrived in early afternoon, German police stood guard beside the Americans, seeking to arrest the men if they came out, while the Americans refused to permit them to come out

When Fritzsche sought to leave his apartment and surrender to the Germans, he was forbidden to do so by the Americans.

In Berlin, a British spokesman for Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson said entry applications to the British zone from Schacht, Fritzsche or Franz von Papen would be denied. He added that none had been received.

Dr. Alfred Seidl, attorney for Hans Frank, stated, meanwhile, that Michael Cardinal Faulhaber of Munich has forwarded to the Allied council an appeal from Pope Pius XII for mercy for Frank, under a tribunal death sentence.

There was no immediate confirmation or denial from either Faulhaber or the Vatican. Frank became a Catholic convert while under arrest.

Paul's Background in Early Life — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 21:39; 22:3, 27-28; 36:4-5; Philippians 3:5-6.

Wishing to speak to a mob in Jerusalem, Paul said, "I am a man which am a Jew of Tarsus, a citizen of no mean city: and, I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people."

The chief captain asked Paul if he were a Roman, and he said "Yea." "With a great sum obtained I this freedom," said the captain, but Paul answered, "But I was free born."

Before Agrippa Paul testified, "My manner of life from my youth, which was at the first among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews; which knew me from the beginning."

Writing to the Philippians Paul says that he was "circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel: as touching the law, a Pharisee."

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 92:4.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1946

Drive carefully tomorrow—and try to keep tab on the changes in Mansfield's traffic light system.

Canadian builders have an answer to the problems of unfinished houses. They sell them unfinished, and let the buyers worry about the shortages.

If a class line is drawn in American politics, it might be between the people who can afford to pay black-market prices and do, and those who can't and don't.

Election Day Only Month Away

WITH the election date now only a month ahead, campaigning is expected to become intensified within the next week, and tomorrow and Monday will be devoted to rounding up any prospective voters who are not already properly registered.

While greatest public interest centers in outcome of the election of congressmen, with divided opinion as to whether Democrats or Republicans will have control in the next congress, it should not be overlooked that state and county officials are also to be elected in November and that all voters share responsibility in choosing persons deemed best suited to the positions to which they aspire.

A recent Gallup poll indicates that Americans in general—and this appears to apply locally—are giving first thought to foreign relations and to progress of the United Nations toward the goal of permanent world peace; then comes appearance of keen interest in lowering the cost of living; shortages of housing, food, clothing and other necessities. Also high on the list of interest is that having to do with the welfare of veterans.

"What is going to be done to curb strikes and regulate unions," is a question that is being earnestly asked by distraught people all over the country, as they contemplate the disastrous effects of work suspensions during the past year and fail to see any signs of betterment under the present national plan of dealing with labor-management controversies—or even with jurisdictional disputes in organized groups.

Intelligent voting, such as is assumed under the American practice of self-government, requires that eligible voters inform themselves to the fullest possible extent as to qualifications of candidates and also on current issues which play a part in determining the future procedure of this country and of its various governmental units.

The month between now and election may well be devoted to broadening the field of understanding by all who will be privileged to cast a ballot on November 5th.

Visits Sweden, Prefers Mansfield

THE INTERESTING glimpse of conditions in Sweden, given by Elmer Hedeen at Thursday's Kiwanis club meeting, reminds that the current articles by Marquis Childs, which appear on this page almost every day, are being written in Stockholm and touch on many phases of the Swedish people's accomplishments and problems.

As is so often the case with Mansfielders who travel in other parts of the world, Mr. Hedeen expresses himself as preferring this as a place to live, because, as he says, "I've found my real home here."

Some of his observations in Sweden, however, must have impressed him with opportunities for betterment here, as, for instance, cleanliness (note the litter of paper carelessly thrown on Mansfield streets); absence of slums, intelligent handling of social problems, and banning of needless noises.

There's an advantage, many times, in learning how things are done in other cities—even in other countries—and such a talk as that given by Mr. Hedeen, and such articles as are being written by Mr. Childs, serve to establish better acquaintanceship with progressive Sweden.

When a Woman 'Gets Mad'

IT CAME as a casual remark by a woman who had been listening to talk about the meat shortage and the high price of butter. She said quietly: "We have spent only a dollar and a half for meat since the first of June—and now we are getting along without butter."

It appears that there are no children in the family and that the adults are finding ways to keep well nourished without meat and that they can also do nicely without butter.

Disclaiming intent to continue as vegetarians, this woman explained: "I just got mad, that's all, at the high prices and we'll do without meat and butter for awhile."

So that's one idea, folks, just get mad enough to refuse to buy anything that is priced extortionately high, and the law of supply and demand will soon resume operation in bringing prices within reason.

Courtesy That Pays Dividends

THE IDEA of pleasing patrons is not new—it has merely been lost sight of by some merchandisers during a period of scarcities and help shortage. "The customers is always right" is an exaggeration indulged in by that successful merchandiser, the late John Wanamaker, in gaining and holding patronage, and "The Friendly Southern Pacific" has long been a familiar slogan of that railroad, which is now pioneering in the field of training its personnel in the ways of courtesy to patrons.

Eight courses of two hours each are given employes who meet the public. These are free-for-all discussions of various subjects having to do with courteous treatment of patrons and prospective patrons—and one dining car waiter was delighted to find that his tips increased substantially after he had been given some training in courtesy.

Courteous, friendly treatment is appreciated by store patrons as well as by railway and bus travelers—and the requirement for courtesy is not too much to ask of all persons who engage in lines of work which involve sales or service.

Success or failure in any business is largely dependent on RETAINING patronage, and this can be done only by making a favorable impression upon those who call at a business place for the first time and who find a friendly atmosphere instead of inattention or rudeness.

Word comes that in suburban London 24 workers put up a ready-cut cottage in something less than an hour—emphasis, of course, being on the word "workers."

Square milk bottles having been provided to save refrigerator space, it is now suggested that square eggs would also pack more conveniently.

"In the Dominican Republic it is considered bad luck to drink coffee standing up"—but what if there's a train to catch?

"ONE WORLD"—FOR A FEW DAYS, AT LEAST

Pursuit of Selfish Aims Could Result In War, Byrnes Warns

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

SOME languages are difficult to translate into English, and among them is the diplomatic, but Secretary Byrnes' speech in Paris Thursday certainly is open to the interpretation he is reminding Russia that any nation in too avid pursuit of its own political and economic objectives is running the risk of war.

As reported here the other day, most world statesmen do not think that Russia wants war—but many of them are afraid she will eventually reach for something, in the belief that she can get it without war, and then find herself mistaken.

Byrnes didn't actually mention Russia in the same breath with his definition of what will cause war, but here is the way he put it:

"I concur most heartily in the view recently expressed by Generalissimo Stalin that there is no immediate danger of war. I hope that his statement will put an end to the unwarranted charges that any nation or group of nations is seeking to encircle the Soviet Union, or that the responsible leaders of the Soviet Union so believe.

"I do not believe that any responsible official of any government wants war. The world has had enough of war."

And then without pause:

"The difficulty is that while no nation wants war, nations may pursue policies or courses of action which lead to war. Nations may seek political and economic advantages which they cannot obtain without war."

Byrnes had been expected to find an occasion on which to take cognizance of Stalin's recent statements to the press. The American club luncheon in Paris apparently provided it.

The general reaction to Stalin's statements among the western democracies was that a cessation of controversial acts would do more for the cause of peace than anybody's words.

Renewal of Russian pressure against Turkey did nothing to heighten whatever enthusiasm was engendered by Stalin's words.

Byrnes could have added that one nation's search for military security might so threaten another's position as to cause war, also.

Perhaps he did have that in mind when he said:

"The people of the United States believe in freedom for all men and for all nations, . . . (and) "have no desire to impose their will upon any other people or to obstruct their efforts to improve their social, economic or political conditions. In our view, freedom and human progress are inseparable."

Here is Byrnes' answer to Stalin—that he who will respect the rights of others will have his own so respected by the United States.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

A new Revolutionary Calendar was promulgated in France on Oct. 5, 1793. It fixed the Year 1 as beginning on Sept. 22, 1792.

Dave Boone Says:

IT SEEMS to me that Fitzsche, Schacht and Von Papen, being so innocent, should be taken out to lunch by the Nuernberg court and told all about the war and the awful things that happened in it.

* * *

The judges should explain how it started, who Hitler was, what all those swastikas on the flags meant, etc.

* * *

And they are such unsuspecting, gentle boys that the court might warn them that if they had never had any idea what they were doing for Adolf, it could have gotten them into serious trouble.

* * *

I don't know who's going to execute those Nazi bullies. But it might not be a bad idea to have it done by a committee of citizens chosen from Lidice, Warsaw, Coventry and a few Russian towns.

Visitors In Russia Are Carefully Watched.

STOCKHOLM — As the Nazis' grip tightened on Europe, this capital was a useful window into Germany. Today it's a peephole in the iron curtain that hangs between the East and the West.

Stockholm is a way station for travelers of many nationalities, including Americans, en route to and from Russia. The Swedes also have been traveling back and forth in connection with trade negotiations.

Talking to these travelers, who represent various points of view, you get some slight impression of what is happening behind the tight screen of censorship.

The movements of all visitors inside the USSR are rigidly restricted, yet each one brings out some scrap of information.

One impression brought back by recently returned visitors is that of the mounting tension and grimness of life in Moscow. There appears to have been a noticeable change since last spring. This shows in various ways. One is in the tightening of security regulations, which were already like an iron vise on the existence of every individual.

Always on May Day, foreigners at Hotel National on Red Square are ordered to evacuate all front rooms. Recently, during a sports parade across the square, which was certainly not a major event although some members of the politburo were present, foreigners were told they could be in their rooms but must keep the windows closed.

In one room, a visitor ventured to raise a window a crack in order to hear what was being said over the loudspeakers. Within a few minutes, security police were in his room to warn him that, if it happened again, he would be taken into custody and deported at once.

The purge of directors of collective farms is being prosecuted zealously, according to all reports. These are farms on which individual farmers work on assigned tracts, using collective equipment.

Under a policy of some years ago, each farmer was given a production quota. Above that quota, he could keep produce and sell it on the open market, which is equivalent to an open black market run by the government.

In open-market shops, fantastic prices are charged. A pound of sausage costs 200 roubles or more. Peasant women could take part of a loaf of bread and sell it in a city street for 40 or 50 roubles, which compares with the official price recently raised in state stores from 1 to 2.4 roubles.

Apparently what happened was that peasants who could sell a surplus above the quota began to accumulate too much money. Stories are told in Moscow of shabby peasants who came into open-market shops and dump down sacks of roubles to pay 15,000 or 20,000 for gaudy clothes or for some undreamed-of luxury.

The blame for this excess is put on the directors of the collective farm system. Therefore, they are being liquidated for high crimes and misdemeanors, proclaimed on the Soviet radio with customary vilification.

Some returning travelers believe the purge is not limited to collective farms. They get the impression that it's being extended to many other branches of the government.

A cold, barely polite "no" is what most foreigners get out of the kremlin, except on the rare occasions when it serves the monetary interest of the Soviets to say something else.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I put the ironing board there so you won't get the new sofa all out of shape."

As Others See It

Oddity Noted.

Football is unique among sports. In no other game does the management offer all its alibis before play starts.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Placing the Blame.

Democratic leaders who have been in charge of the government for nearly 14 years are quite convinced that if we had no Republicans in this country things would be all right today.—Kansas City Star.

ODD FACT.

The housewife who does an average week's ironing by hand does an amount of iron lifting equal to shoveling three to five tons of coal.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Cupboard Bare In 'Land of Plenty', Strikes, Shortages, Cripple Nation

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALONG with frantic St. Louis and Brooklyn baseball fans midweek found 140,000,000 harassed Americans asking, "Is this season never going to end?" They referred to a monumental snarl of postwar production, strikes, rising price spirals, shortage of goods and materials and the virtual disappearance of meat from home and restaurant menus.

The nation's ocean shipping was paralyzed for the second time within a month when marine officers in two AFL unions walked off ships in east and west coast ports. A third maritime union, Harry Bridges' CIO International Longshoremen and Warehousemen, struck on the Pacific coast.

Pittsburgh was crippled by a power strike and the walkout of 1,800 hotel workers, New York was in the grip of a month-long truckmen's strike, Hollywood was the scene of bloody jurisdictional strikes between two rival AFL movie unions.

Public Investigations.

The shortage that irked most was meat. Grumpy mayors in a score of cities ordered a search for hidden warehouse stocks.

In Boston where hospitals are reduced to serving horse meat, investigators found 6,000,000 pounds of frozen meat in a waterfront warehouse. A third of it belonged to the army but the rest was privately owned.

The continued shortage brought threat of government seizure of all market-bound livestock from Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture.

Army Gets 6,000 Tons a Week.

The army takes 12,000,000 pounds of beef, lamb and pork a week by priority orders served on federally-inspected packers, but many slaughterers do not come under this category.

Anderson held out still another warning to the cattle industry—that the long standing fight against importing Argentine beef might be reopened by public demand.

The army already is trying to buy some of its meat intended for overseas use from Argentina. Present sanitary regulations prevent the importation of Argentine meat into this country.

At Home

Torts and Retorts.

On Monday, Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson will take his place on the high mahogany bench of the Supreme Court for the first time to declare the fall term formally open. As successor to the late Harlan F. Stone, he will sit in the exact center of eight associate justices notable for their record number of disagreements.

Last June, Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief American prosecutor at the Nuernberg trials, charged publicly that Justice Hugo L. Black threatened him with "war" unless he "covered up facts" in a case argued by Black's former law partner.

Barred from public gaze will be a little drama that may have much to do with harmony in the nation's highest court in days to come. A few minutes before noon, justices will meet in the tiny robing room to prepare for their ceremonial march to the bench. While aides help them into their black silk gowns, justices customarily exchange greetings on opening day.

What will Jackson say to Black? Will they shake hands and forget their feud?

A Champ Kangaroo.

The longest jump a kangaroo ever made started in Perth, Australia, last Sunday and ended 11,237 miles, 55 hours and 18 minutes later in Columbus, Ohio. The kangeroo, a baby at that, was a passenger in the navy's newest patrol bomber, a twin-engine Lockheed Neptune P2V.

The big ship, named "Truculent Turtle" by her crew of four, smashed by 3,321 miles the previous world record of 7,916 non-stop miles set last November by the army B29 "Dream Boat" on a flight from Guam to Washington.

The Turtle, carrying 8,400 gallons of 100 octane gasoline, was boosted into the air by four jet cylinders which were jettisoned as soon as the plane became airborne. The Turtle's weight at the take-off was 42½ tons, 13½ tons heavier than the maximum for which it was designed.

* * *

Little-Known Cost of War.

It takes generations to pay for a war. The government is paying approximately $9,000,000 a month in compensation and pensions to more than 2,135,000 war veterans.

The Veterans Administration says 75 per cent of the total are World War II veterans with service-connected disabilities. In addition some 42,000 veterans are receiving about $1,526,000 monthly for disabilities received in peacetime service.

Another $27,000,000 in monthly payments is being made to dependents of 520,000 deceased veterans, some of which date back past the Civil war to the Indian campaigns.

Abroad

Sawing Wood.

A faster tempo became evident at the Paris peace conference so that diplomats could be in New York for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly Oct. 23. The speed-up curtailed long-winded speeches and postponed decision on some basic issues (i. e. disposition of Italian colonies) as commissions burned midnight oil readying advisory reports to be submitted to the full body of the conference next week.

Over Russian objections, the Balkans commission wrote freedom of Danube navigation into the Romanian treaty and prepared to insert the same guarantees into pacts with Hungary and Bulgaria.

Trieste exemplifies how diplomats are sawing wood. Yugoslavia tried to thwart agreement on the boundary, agreed to last spring by the Big Four, by threatening to refuse to sign the Italian peace treaty. The commission quickly drafted an amendment barring any nation, which did not sign, from treaty benefits. Yugoslavia has a reparations claim of $1,300,000,000 against Italy.

* * *

Nuernberg Verdict.

The record of the unprecedented international military tribunal at Nuernberg is almost complete. That 12 German leaders, including the missing and believed dead Martin Bormann, were sentenced to hang, and seven others jailed was not surprising.

More astounding was the acquittal, over Russian protest, of Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritsche. The record will not be complete until 11 Hitler henchmen, headed by Hermann Goering, twitch their last on the gallows in Nuernberg in partial payment for the blood and misery in which they bathed the world.

The trial was one of the longest and most involved in history. It documented by legal process the Nazi system under which a corps of unscrupulous men took over a militant nation and through hideous machinery of torture and death imposed their will on helpless millions.

A drumhead courtmartial would have been quicker but the record of this tribunal can be left in perpetual rebuttal to claims that these men did not receive a fair trial or their just desserts.

* * *

Gaul Divided.

France enters the final week of an impassioned campaign over its second proposed constitution for the French Republic. Voters turned down the first one last May. The Oct. 13 referendum may have a decisive bearing on the course of France and western Europe as well.

A few hours after the constituent assembly passed the new constitution at 4 p. m. last Sunday, Gen. Charles de Gaulle attacked it as "the road to anarchy and tyranny."

France is caught, he said, between a Slav bloc led by a boundless power and a young America replete with power.

What wartorn France needs, he argued, is a president "above party," strong enough to maintain security and steer a straight course regardless of pressure from east or west.

Quotes

Philip Murray, CIO president: "A well organized and financed conspiracy" has developed in the United States since the war "to undermine and even actually destroy the labor movement."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in Berlin where the Big Four are cooperating in running occupied Germany: "There is too much pessimism in the world about international relations and too much discounting of progress that is being made."

Farmer's Diary: "Busiest Day on The Farm."

SATURDAY is the busiest and fullest day of all the week, at our place. When the boys are at home from school, we plan to get done many kinds of work.

Our neighbor exchanged tractors with us, while he was cutting corn. "Lijah" is excellent at pulling the corn binder, so we used the neighbor's heavy duty tractor to run the big disk across our east orchard. We oiled the bearings well with a grease gun until little fans of hard oil oozed out both sides.

Then the oldest boy took the seat on the back of the heavy tractor, while the 11-year-old cranked until it started with a bang. We were going to disk down the tall crop of soybeans, and cover up the leafy stems as much as possible. With each round we lapped over half the distance of the 8-foot disk. The beans stood up well between rows of apple and peach trees. The disking was to serve two purposes—to prepare the ground for planting and to cultivate as near as possible to the trees.

I enjoyed standing by to watch the boy — hundred pounds in weight — guide the noisy roaring steed with the acute-angled disk pitching and clanging behind, throwing fine dirt across an eight-foot path.

It had rained two days before. The soil was moist and soft beneath. Now four inches of the top became a mat of stems and leaves. The nitrogen fixing nodules on the roots of soys together with the elements in leaves and stems add up to a perfect cover crop that will keep the soil loose and furnish a reservoir of moisture. When wheat is sown in such a seed bed, and thoroughly limed, the nitrogen element is already there.

A man who came along the road noticed the work we did, called the process wasteful and thought I ought to cut the standing beans for hay. I told him I hoped to disk down four more acres and plant wheat. He shook his head and muttered that farmers destroyed their crops—likely that was why meat was scarce and prices were high.

"I've often told my wife," he said, "that more goes to waste on a farm than anybody has any idea of . . . why don't the government investigate, I wonder." (I just kept quiet.)

Next morning I went down to look over the newly cultivated soil. At that early hour, the air was cool and a drizzle followed. My foot sank into the soft seed bed as into a fine expensive carpet. I took off my shoes. It was warm to the soles of my feet, and when I knelt and thrust my fingers in, a mild steamy warmth came up against my face. A spirit of power and goodness was all about me.

Timely Editorial

Matter of Self-Preservation.

It is possible that history will record the Pittsburgh power strike as the pinnacle of labor difficulties that have convulsed the nation during the last year.

Sooner or later there will be deaths in Pittsburgh directly attributable to the power situation—deaths caused by a breakdown of hospital, medical, safety and health facilities.

The steadily declining electric service soon threatens to cut off the city's water supply. A modern city, if it has to, can get along for a time without almost every service except water. But when the water supply fails, disease and disaster are at hand.

Self-preservation is the first law. When it takes over in order to prevent disease and death, all other rights and laws give way.—Lorain Journal.

Words of the Wise

The first and simplest emotion which we discover in the human mind, is curiosity.—Burke.

Fame, we may understand, is no sure test of merit, but only a probability of such: it is an accident not a property of man. —Carlyle.

Fence - Busting Sox Favored In Series

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Boston's fence-busting Red Sox, with Ted Williams definitely back in the lineup, are ranked top heavy favorites to whip the newly-crowned National league champions from St. Louis in the 43rd World Series opening tomorrow at Sportsman's Park.

Boston is a 7 to 20 choice to take the series and 13 to 20 to cop the first game.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals honestly believes his Red Birds have a real chance to upset the mighty Sox and he is banking on his southpaw pitching to do the trick.

With that in mind, "Skip" Dyer plans to open with lefthanders Howie Pollet and Harry Brecheen and follow with Murry Dickson at Boston. Tex Hughson is expected to be Joe Cronin's choice. Dave Ferriss and Mickey Harris are the other possibilities.

Boston packs more punch in its infield of Rudy York, Bobby Doerr, Johnny Pesky and Pinky Higgins or Glen Russell but the Card quartet of Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst, Marty Marion and Whitey Kurowski has more finesse.

Williams and Dom DiMaggio give the Sox an outfield edge although Enos Slaughter, St. Louis right fielder rates over either Wally Moses or Tom McBride. Erv Dusak and Harry Walker, Card left fielders, can not approach Williams, and DiMaggio has more speed than the 1946 Terry Moore.

Williams elbow injury from an exhibition game Tuesday in Boston will not keep him out of the series, although the joint is still swollen and very tender.

Cronin also has more experienced catching in Al Wagner and Roy Partee although Rookie Joe Garagiola and veteran Clyde Kluttz, who split the Birds receiving, won't be far behind.

Both clubs have planned to limber up at Sportsman's Park today although both are familiar with every nook and cranny of the field.

With all reserve seats sold in a wild 50-minute scramble at the park yesterday, capacity crowds of close to 34,000 have been assured.

Rams Take Easy 20-6 Triumph

By BRUCE McGINTY

RITTMAN — Led by Dick Brown, Rams speedy little substitute halfback and Eldon Pritchard, right end, Mansfield Madison defeated Rittman for the Rams first 1946 Northeastern Buckeye league win, 20 to 6, here last night.

Pritchard scored two touchdowns as he retrieved Dick Ernsberger's aerials for 20 and 35 yard gains. Brown's 95 yard jaunt on the opening kick-off of the second half was the outstanding run of the evening. He plowed straight down the center of the field behind beautiful blocking by the Rams. Ernsberger converted two extra points.

Bob Wilson, second string center who started in place of the injured Chuck Campbell, started the first TD drive when he recovered a Rittman fumble mid-way in the second quarter on the Indians 41-yard line.

After two ground plays Jackie Herr went off tackle for 15 yards to the 20. On the next play Ernsberger faded back and heaved to Pritchard behind the goal-line.

The final score was set up by Ernsberger, who intercepted one of Jim Petak's aerials on the Rams 40-yard stripe and returned to the Indians' 35. On the first play Ernsberger hit Pritchard in the end-zone and the score was 19 to 0.

Pritchard, Captain Jack Cleckner, Brown and Ernsberger were the outstanding performers for the Rams on both offense and defense. Cleckner repeatedly broke through the Indian defense to throw the backs for losses.

Rittman's lone score came mid-way in the fourth period as the Indians recovered a Madison fumble on their 44. Ken Plahuta plunged through center from the six to score. The whole Madison forward wall broke through and smothered the extra-point try.

DeHaven sent his regulars to the showers mid-way in the third quarter.

Sanders Leads Yankees To 21-13 Win Over Buffalo.

Orban (Spec) Sanders, seeking "rookie-of-the-year" honors in the All-America conference, had another recommendation today—his outstanding performance last night as he led the New York Yankees to a 21 to 13 victory over Buffalo.

Sanders' running set up the first Yank touchdown, he passed for the second and scored the third himself on a 75-yard-run-back of a punt.

New London Squad Loses to Medina

NEW LONDON—New London developed a bad case of fumblitis and lost to a tough Medina eleven 26 to 0, here last night.

Three of Medina's touchdowns were set-up by the Wildcats' fumbles behind their own 20-yard line. Blatteric scored two TD's for Medina on off-tackle smashes. Toppis and Hettirick each collected six-points on end runs and Brubaker and Kemp added the extra points on a center plunge and pass.

An over-flow crowd of 1,500 saw this game which marked New London's entrance into the Northern high school league.

picked up only 18 yards. He was tossed for four losses.

Mansfield's gridiron machine pulled into scoring range five times while the Trojans had two distinct scoring opportunities. In addition to the touchdown marches, the Tygers got to the seven yard line in the first quarter, the 23rd in the third and the nine in the fourth.

The Bengal gang took the second-half kickoff for 50 yards before losing the ball on the Trojan 25. Ralph Majors 33-yard off tackle burst featured the drive.

Then the Trojans uncorked the game's longest sustained drive. With Journey carrying the ball on six of nine plays, Portsmouth moved to the Mansfield nine. Thomas went through center for five and Ray Beard, playing defensive end, broke through to spill Journey for a five-yard loss.

A Journey-to-Thomas lateral went awry pushing the Trojans back to the 21 and a fourth down. Journey to Dick Anderson aerial missed connections.

Mansfield fumbled on its first scrimmage play in the opening quarter but two plays later Al Henke fell on a Trojan bobble on the 49 and pay-dirt started calling. Ralph Majors made four, Ollie Cline picked up five and Kenny Horvath blasted through center for 16 and a first down on the 26.

Majors lost four, Horvath picked up two and Majors went inside tackle for 17. Horvath bolted 11 yards on two tries for a first down on the one. A fumble moved the ball back to the four but Horvath swept right-end for the counter.

Old Play Dubs.

Immediately after the following kick-off, Cline flagged a Thomas pass on the Portsmouth 38 and returned to the 15. Majors lost a yard in two attempts and Horvath plunged for six. Majors made three on fourth down and the Trojans took over on the seventh.

Early in the final chukker, Portsmouth tried a "Statue of Liberty" play but fumbled and Dave Richards recovered on the 18. A penalty put the Tygers back to the 23. Horvath and McKee alternated in moving the leather of the eighth and blond Bill went wide to the left for the TD. He shook off two Portsmouth tacklers in the dash.

Frisbee halted a Portsmouth march on the 28 by intercepting a Journey pass on the 28. The march gained impetus through a 15-yard penalty on the Bengals.

Chunky Ross failed to field a lateral from Cline and Bob Hicks of Portsmouth recovered on the 13. Journey lost two but completed a pass to Anderson for 13 yards and a first down on the two. Journey made a yard. He tried again but was smacked hard by the tough Tyger forwards. The ball got away from Journey, rolled across the goal line and Soph Dave Gambill fell on it for the tally.

Mansfield took the following kickoff on its 27 and marched to the Trojan nine. A 24-yard pass completion, Cline to Majors, sparked the soiree. Portsmouth shoved Mansfield back to the 16 and Frisbee tried the field goal from the 23. It was wide.

* * *

Majors was the leading ground-gainer with 124 yards in 18 carries and he caught two passes from Cline for 44 yards. Horvath had 70 yards in 18 tries.

Several carloads of Mansfield rooters helped swell the attendance figure to 6,894 paid admissions, largest crowd ever to watch a Trojan home contest.

* * *

Mansfield's crack marching band came in for its share of the plaudits. Said one Trojan rooter, "It is the best high school band to show in Municipal stadium in many years."

* * *

The Tyger musicians' rendition of "Give Me Five Minutes More," was in a fine jive style and the crowd gave their hands a workout after the band gave out with "Bells of St. Mary's."

Eagles Snap Polar Bear Jinx, 6 to 0

ASHLAND—Coach George Donges' hard-driving Ashland Eagles edged the Ohio Northern Polar Bears here last night, 6-0, to break a 25-year victory famine.

Exhibiting a potent ground and aerial attack, the Eagles were an entirely different looking outfit from the club which lost to Heidelberg, 7-0, last week.

With jet-propelled Kenny Funk leading the attack, the Eagles drove 75 yards to score after taking the second half kickoff on their own 25. Funk capped the march by going over from the 12-yard stripe on a reverse.

The counter was the first racked up by Ashland against Northern since the 1921 grid campaign.

Bob Puglisi, Ashland, and Bob Anthony, former Mansfield Madison ball-toter, vied with Funk for ground eating honors. Jim Tharp, Eagle sophomore, made one of the game's most spectacular dashes when he cut 44 yards to the Polar Bears 16 aided by Dick McMullen's blocking.

Alex Schwaner, ex-Mansfield Tyger, suffered a recurrence of a knee injury in the first stanza and retired from the game.

Centerburg Tops Bellville, 27-7

BELLVILLE — Bellville's homecoming game was marred here yesterday afternoon as a strong Centerburg eleven defeated the Bluejays 27 to 7.

Bellville scored its lone touchdown in the first quarter after a 40-yard drive. Homer Walker plunged through center from the three.

Both teams were aerial minded and Centerburg scored all of its 27 points via the airlanes. Bellville completed eight out of 13 passes for 147 yards.

The high school band and queens put on a colorful half time performance before the largest crowd to see the Bluejays this year. The homecoming queen was Vera Bell, while her attendants were Norma Jean Walker, LaDonna Lenhardt, Shirley Shrader and Kathern Naus.

Shelby Whips Bucyrus, 26-6; Leads Northern Ohio League

BUCYRUS—Coach Al Fendrick's Shelby Whippets ran rough shod over the Bucyrus Redmen, 26 to 6, Friday night to take the undisputed lead in the Northern Ohio league grid race before a crowd of 6,000 fans.

It was the first loss in three league starts for Bucyrus and the third consecutive win for the Scarlet and Gray eleven.

Stanton Jones, Shelby halfback, kicked his ninth and tenth straight placements for points after touchdowns, but missed his eleventh in the game.

The first touchdown for Shelby came on a break. Bill Keiser, Whippet fullback, grabbed a Bucyrus fumble in mid-air on Shelby's 38-yard line and raced 30 yards where he tossed a lateral to End Grant Dowds, who was tackled on the Redmen's four-yard strip. Jones carried the ball over and kicked the extra point giving Fendrick's eleven the lead, 7 to 0, in the first two minutes of play.

Jones went over for the second touchdown from the 25-yard line. His kick was good for the extra point to make the score 14 to 0.

Reed got the ball and raced 41 yards to the one-yard line. Reed then passed to Seitz who went over for the touchdown. Jones kick was blocked.

For the final touchdown Reed passed to Maier to take the ball to the 5-yard line. Thompson went over.

The only Bucyrus touchdown came in the final period of the game when Bovle went over from the 1-yard line after an 80-yard drive. His kick was no good.

Try and Stop Me

Plotkin suspected a catch when they offered him a room at the swanky Rockaway Ritzmore on the American plan for ten dollars a day.

When he saw the size of the portions at his first dinner, he was sure of it. As the waiter planked the meat course in front of him, Plotkin rose dramatically to his feet, pointed his knife at the morsel of meat, and announced loudly, "Waiter, at home, there's more than that on the plate when I'm finished."

LONGLEGS REJOICES

Before you wear a welcome out
Just say farewell, and turn about.
—Old Mother Nature.

Lipperty, lopperty, lip ran Peter Rabbit on his way to the Smiling Pool. It was early, very early, in the morning. Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was just beginning his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky.

"I wonder if they will be there this morning. I do hope they will," thought Peter.

He meant the two white Herons from the Sunny South whom he had seen at the Smiling Pool the day before, Cousin Egret and Lil' Blue. Just at sunset the night before he had watched them fly over toward the Big River. They hadn't said goodbye so he hoped they would be back this morning. He had a lot of questions he wanted to ask.

When he reached the Smiling Pool he looked eagerly this way and that way. They were not there. "Perhaps I am early and they will come a little later," thought he. He settled himself to wait in such patience as he could manage. He had been there only a little while when he saw a bird with great broad wings coming from the Big River. It was Longlegs the Great Blue Heron. He was disappointed. But perhaps Longlegs could tell him if the others were coming.

"Good morning," said Peter politely. He long ago learned that it often pays to be polite. "Are your white cousins coming over here this morning?"

Longlegs looked down his long bill at Peter. "No," said he gruffly.

"If you please, where are they?" asked Peter.

"On their way home to the Sunny South where they belong, thank goodness," replied Longlegs.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" cried Peter.

"I'm not. I'm glad," croaked Longlegs.

"Why? Don't you like them?" Peter wanted to know.

"They are all right in their place, but this isn't their place. They don't belong here. People who don't belong are out of place, and people out of place are a nuisance or worse," croaked Longlegs.

"But in their white coats they were so lovely!" cried Peter.

"Lovely is as lovely does," croaked Longlegs. "I hope I've seen the last of them," he added.

"If you ask me they were a great addition to the Smiling Pool," said Peter.

"I didn't ask you, and you don't know what you are talking about," declared Longlegs crossly.

"I still don't see why you didn't like having them here. They are your own cousins, and so lovely. I believe you are jealous. They didn't interfere with you," declared Peter.

"Listen, Longears," snapped Longlegs, "I'm not jealous. I wouldn't trade coats with either of them. A white coat may be all right where a lot of other folks wear white, but not around here. It can be seen from too great a distance. Those fellows couldn't hide if they tried unless they crawled under something. I never felt easy with them in the neighborhood. That is one reason I kept away while they were here. And they did interfere with me."

"How?" demanded Peter.

"They spoiled my fishing. Yes, sir, they spoiled my fishing," declared the big Heron. "There are enough fish and frogs here and along the Big River for me and for my cousin, Quawk the Night Heron, but not enough for two more. As it is it takes a lot of patience to catch enough to keep from going hungry. Those white cousins belong in the Sunny South. Let them stay there and do their fishing there. I certainly was glad when I saw them taking off early this morning and heading south. I certainly was. May I never go where I am not wanted."

"But they were wanted; I wanted them. I hope they'll come back," cried Peter indignantly.

Longlegs suddenly shot his long beak down and caught a small fish. He lifted his head high, turned the fish so that it would go down his long throat head first and swallowed it. He opened and closed his bill several times which I suppose was the same thing as smacking one's lips.

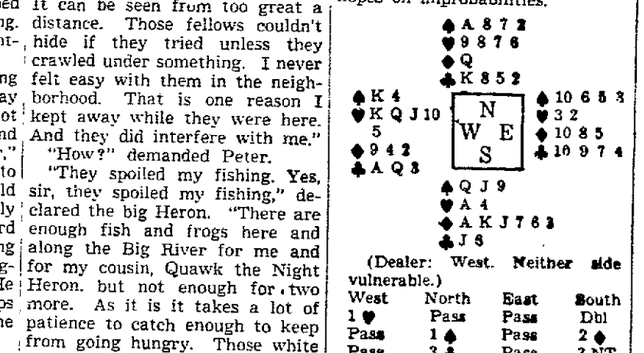
"There's one they didn't get," said he.

The next story: "Peter Is Reminded."

Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

ANYBODY WOULD rather depend on a certainty than a probability, on a probability than an improbability, on an improbability than any impossibility. So it goes in the order of preference between various courses open to a declarer. The last of these choices may loom up when the opening lead against your No trump game has knocked out your sole stopper of a five-card suit or longer. If you know the defenders are sure to take at least five tricks in case they get the lead, you must then find a way to try for nine before letting them in, even if you base your hopes on improbabilities.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

After West led his heart K, South saw that he must manage to run nine tricks in a row. Holding up on the first trick would do no good, for if the later spade finesse lost to East, the latter could surely put West in with a club, as the A was marked there by the opening bid.

Then the study of the entry situation became important. After using up the heart A, he would have no immediate re-entry to his own hand to run the rest of the diamonds if he used dummy's Q for a trick-taker to help assure that the suit would set up. So the only thing to do was hope the diamonds would drop in three rounds —against the probabilities — or that the 10 and 9 would be in the doubleton hand if one defender had four of them. Furthermore, West would have to hold the spade K in order for South to get nine consecutive tricks. So that's what he sought—an improbability.

Winning the opening trick with the heart A, he laid down the diamond A, then five more diamonds when the suit divided. The spade Q then was covered, the A winning, and a return to the spade J gave South his game the only way it could be made.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, October 6.

SUNDAY'S Horoscope is splendid for all manner of Sabbath conventions, promotions, favors, vocations and avocations, together with much stirring-about and pleasure in social, domestic and romantic adventure. The serious-minded will aim at lofty ambitions and aspirations. The pleasure-loving should find romance and adventure thrilling and far beyond most exciting expectations. A day to enjoy and prosper.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of what may be called unusual "breaks" and crises, with sudden and radical change in sight. There may be promotion, preferment and, all sorts of favors from those in high places.

It is a time to concentrate the energies and plans on this objective, as the equipment to attain advanced place or acclaim may be exceptional or brilliant. Romance and adventure are also indicated for private life.

A child born on this day is brilliantly equipped for an adventurous, romantic and dynamic career.

STRAN-STEEL "Quonset 20"

ALL-STEEL • CLEAR-SPAN INTERIOR • EASY TO ERECT

If you need a small building fast, that is low in cost and has the permanence of steel construction, you will find the "Quonset 20" perfect for almost any purpose.

Easily adapted to office, production, storage or other uses, it has a clear-span interior that permits any desired interior arrangement. Interior walls and insulation are easily accommodated, if needed.

Width is 20 feet; length as desired, in 12-foot extensions. Stran-Steel framing goes up fast. Joists and studs have a patented nailing groove; steel siding and covering are nailed directly to the steel framework, and gripped securely. All-steel construction is fire-safe, wind- and weather-safe, and proof against sagging, warping, rotting, and the destructive action of termites.

Let us give you complete information about prices, structural details and possible uses.

"Quonset" buildings are products of Great Lakes Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation

IF YOU NEED A LARGER BUILDING

EARLY START

Halloween Pranksters Busy In City Area.

Halloween vandalism got off to an early start last night when a group of boys broke a window at a Saxton road home and damaged an auto of an Overlook road resident.

Police reported that a window at the home of Mrs. H. T. Urquhart, 265 Saxton road, was broken by vandals. Mrs. Sam Harris, 400 Overlook road, said that someone damaged a dome-light of a 1934-model car, put water in the gasoline tank and tossed tomatoes at it.

Officers said that both reports were received between 8 and 10 p. m. and they described the vandals as "pre-Halloween pranksters."

Gets Amima Club Award

Louis Bromfield's presentation of a trophy to J. R. Harrington, as the Amima personality of the year, highlighted the club's 20th anniversary dinner, last night in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Speaking before club members, their ladies, and guests, Bromfield praised Harrington, as "the individual," and Amima club, as "the group, having done the most to promote the success of the Mansfield municipal airport."

Replying to Bromfield's presentation, Harrington said that he "accepted the trophy as custodian for the contributions that you and Mansfield have made for the advancement of Mansfield into the future. You and I will never appreciate the true value of the airport," Harrington concluded. "That will be for our children and grandchildren to fully realize."

Scouts Take Hike to Camp

The call of the outdoors appealed to several Mansfield Girl Scouts and their advisors in Troop 16 who spent last night on an overnight camping trip at Camp Niniwan, Mrs. Myrtle Ruff, Mansfield council executive director, said today.

The girls left for the camp at about 5:30 p. m. Supper was cooked in the open, and afterward there was a songfest and games before bedtime.

After an outdoor breakfast early this morning, the girls returned to Mansfield.

Girls on the overnight hike were Scouts Betty Ann Garner, Emily Stephan, Shirley Neil, Diane Ackerman, and Pat Ernsberger, Troopleader Mrs. James Keith, Assistant Leader Mrs. Emil Stephan, and Mrs. Ruff.

MOTOR SHARES LEAD RETREAT IN SLOW MART

Trading Extremely Light On First Saturday Session Since May.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Motor shares led another slow retreat in the stock market today in the first Saturday session since May.

Losses were limited to a point or less and trading was extremely light. Sales for the two-hour session ran little more than 300,000 shares vs. 410,000 in the comparable period Friday.

Chrysler suffered an overnight drop of more than a point, although it recovered partially before the close. At its low, General Motors was down more than a point.

Rubbers were depressed with Firestone falling more than two points on a few sales and U. S. Rubber losing more than a point. Fractions to a point were given up by steels. The "thin" Hiram Walker, strong recently, suffered a four-point fall on a single sale. Schenley surrendered a point.

Fractions were lopped off utilities, rails, oils, farm implements and sugars.

Bonds worked irregularly lower, in quiet dealings. Curb stocks eased.

CHURCH MEETS

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Delegates representing 4,086 congregations in the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii opened the annual United Lutheran church convention today with a communion service before an altar set up in Cleveland Music hall.

Some 564 delegates are attending the sessions, which are to run through Friday.

Dr. Walton H. Greever of Columbia, S. C., retiring secretary, told the delegates their selection was "the means through which God called upon them to carry out their privileges and responsibilities" as laymen and pastors.

DRIVER INJURED

BUCYRUS—Leonard Seligman, 32, of Brookline, Mass., is a patient in City hospital with a head laceration received when his car left the highway on Route 30-N, west of Oceola, and crashed into a ditch Thursday. He told officers that he swerved to avoid striking a car which made a sudden turn in front of him.

WEAR FLOWERS

Mansfielders Buy Paper Forget-Me-Nots In Drive.

Thousands of Mansfielders today were wearing blue forget-me-nots, purchased from Girl Scouts in the annual fund drive conducted by the Disabled American Veterans.

The Scouts were out early, stationed at downtown street intersections, appealing to passersby to purchase the colorful little emblems.

The sale, scheduled to continue through the day, is expected to top last year's total when 3,000 blue paper flowers were sold. The funds will be used to aid dependents of hospitalized veterans.

Accident Victim Reported Better

The condition of Miss Justine Sterkel, who was seriously injured when her car got out of control near her home, 14 Sturges avenue, yesterday morning, was slightly improved today, General hospital reported.

Albert Steele, 5, who was run over by a car Tuesday night at his Warren road home, remained in serious condition, hospital attaches said.

"The Bible contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, the happiness of believers. Read it to believe, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy. It contains light to direct you, comfort to cheer you, and food to support you. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. Read it slowly, daily, prayerfully. It is given you in life, will be opened at the judgment, and will be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, will reward the greatest labor, and condemn all who trifle with its contents."

Sports Writer Sees Better Indian Ball Club Next Year

By ARTHUR ANDERSON

Ed F. Bang, sports editor of the Cleveland News, drew upon 40 years intimate acquaintance with leading figures of the sports world to entertain 133 members of the Mansfield University club at their annual dinner meeting at the Westbrook Country club last night.

Bang was introduced by J. Gilbert Baird who acted as co-chairman of the program with R. B. Konstam.

The sports editor, who joined the Cleveland News staff in 1907 under the direction of Grantland Rice, skipped rapidly from one sports field to another after beginning with baseball.

He talked for a while about the Cleveland Indians and predicted that they would have a team in the first division next year and one that would improve thereafter.

He recalled Babe Ruth's part in the 1932 World series between the Yankees and Cubs when Babe "staked" the Cub pitcher to two strikes and then drove the ball deep into the centerfield, exactly as he said he would.

In the golfing world, he told the club that to his way of thinking Bobby Jones' grand slam in 1930 was probably the greatest sports achievement of all times.

Last night's dinner followed a membership golf tournament won by Gene Zediker with a low score of 73. Zediker was presented with a trophy.

At the beginning of the after-dinner program W. S. Ross took over his duties as the 1946-47 president from Elmer Eckert, retiring president.

Other officers who began their duties for the coming club year meeting were W. E. Slabaugh, vice president and chairman of the entertainment committee; Lloyd Brown, secretary, and Paul M. Eliot, treasurer.

Dr. Harry Knox was elected a member of the board of directors last night. Carlton Fernyak was again named chairman of the membership committee which gained 41 new members during the year.

Joseph Prewitt and Robert R. Lynch were named as the athletic committee.

Altenberg Freed In Morals Case

GALION—Finis was written in the morals case of Carl Altenberg, 42-year-old ex-convict and unnaturalized German native, and 16-year-old Alice Gingrich, of Rossford, O., (near Toledo) Friday.

Parents of the wayward youthful mother of a 16-month-old baby refused to press charges against the twice-convicted cook from the Big Four Camp 19, near here, and he was given his freedom.

Democrats Close Rifts at Convention

Winchell — On Broadway

SILHOUETTES: Eugene O'Neill, John Steinbeck and Ferenc Molnar (of the gliterati) pedestrianing near the Plaza Hotel on 59th, un-recognized . . . Pretty June Allyson asking the Cub Room maitre d' for "Mrs. Dick Powell's table?" . . . Dr. Peter Lindstrom (Ingrid Bergman's favorite medico) getting a borscht transfusion at Howie's . . . The Mack Gordons in from the Zanuck Zoo. The song-hit writer also produces films there. One of the column's "finds" (in 1932)—of whom the knockers groaned: "Gordon and Revel will be a Sunday-night flash-in-the pan." Mack only gets $3,000 a week, that's all. And Revel is nearly a millionaire, or should be . . . Ella Raines (the only green eyes that mean Danger), who says her heart now belong to Major Robin Olds, the army's jet pilot ace.

* * *

Sallies in Our Alley: At the Victorian Room two locals were discussing politics . . . "Just think," said one, "Herbert Hoover is the only living ex-president" . . . "Yes," said the other, "and soon there'll be two" . . . In H'wood, where strikers fought with the picketline-crossers, Jackie Elinson paused to watch the slugging "Hmm," he hmmmm'd, "some big star must be giving a party" . . . We can't recall who said it, so we'll say it: "Politics Make Strange Redfellows.

* * *

Broadway Smalltalk: Variety and M. Berle have phfft, again. No like the way his col'm (his huh?) was chopped. . . A H'wood columnist flew here and back (after a few hours at B. Baruch's) and never saw Manhattan on the trip. Is she angling for new office space? So her east side boss hears . . . Recommended: Earl Wilson's new book of risgaiety: "Pike's Peek or Bust."

* * *

Sounds in the Night: At the Latin Quarter: "He's got so much ham in him, people are starting to stand in line" . . . At Lindy's: "Byrnes is the first Secretary who ever gave dictation to the boss without taking it" . . . At the Copa: "When he dies the only guy who'll be sorry will be his bookie" . . . At Armando's: "Gwan! She needs him like Irving Berlin's songs need a songplugger!" . . . At Lum Fong's: "She used to be wholesome. Now she's wholesale" . . . At the Enduro "He's a typical Broadway bore. Never gives you a chance to talk about yourself" . . . At Dixon's: "Get a load of that guy—trying to play tic tac-knee" . . . At Roseland: "From his many scoops, do you think that paper meant his ear-responsible reporting?" . . . At the Boulevard: "If there were more guts in Washington, there'd be more meat on our tables" . . . At the China Doll: "No Nazis should be found innocent. All Nazis should be found dead!" . . . At the Broadway Hofbrau: "Wallace is nobody's fool; Truman is everybody's."

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

IN WHAT HE SAID to the American club in Paris, and in the way he said it, Mr. Byrnes let it be known that the Stuttgart address was a speech on a particular occasion and to a particular audience rather than the considered statement of our whole German policy. On reflection it could not be otherwise.

It would indeed have been odd if the formal statement of American policy had been announced to the German people before it was presented to our allies and partners with whom we are about to negotiate. Mr. Byrnes has been well advised in acting promptly to correct the misunderstanding on that crucial point.

But this also was only an occasional speech, designed to reassure, to supplement, to correct, and to amplify. It is not the statement of a policy. For in fact Mr. Byrnes is still in the process of forming a policy.

* * *

IN THIS SPEECH he showed how far he is from dogmatic complacency, how true are his intentions, how sincere his purposes, how open is his mind to argument, as he approaches the supremely difficult problem of a German settlement.

Mr. Byrnes restated more precisely and more persuasively than ever before his proposal for a treaty "to keep Germany disarmed and demilitarized for 40 years." Yet this is at best, I venture to say, a way of reinsuring a German settlement, and at worst it might be treated by many in this country as a substitute for a settlement. We must remember that no statesman can in fact commit his government to such vigilant and unhesitating action abroad, as Mr. Byrnes promised, over a period of 40 years.

The truth is that if this kind of supervision is necessary for 40 years, it will mean that we have failed to make a settlement with Germany. Only if Germany has been reconstructed in such a way that the Germans who do not wish to commit aggression are able to deal with the Germans who do, can such a treaty as Mr. Byrnes is proposing be effective.

* * *

A GERMAN SETTLEMENT requires the reorganization and reconstruction of the German constitution—that is to say of the distribution of governmental power inside Germany.

If that is done, there can be a treaty of peace which, when we ratify it, we shall be obligated to uphold, and it would undoubtedly be desirable to reinsure this obligation by a treaty of alliance such as Mr. Byrnes advocates.

But what has to be accomplished first is the reconstruction of Germany, and second a settlement with this reconstructed Germany. We must be careful not to think that our promise to reinsure the reconstruction and the settlement is the same thing as, or worse still a substitute for, the reconstruction and a settlement.

That is why it is so necessary to dwell upon the primary importance of the federal principles. It is the only principle by which Germany can be reconstructed and a settlement agreed upon which resolves the main conflicts of interest among the Allies and makes possible the creation of a Germany which can be a member of the European community.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Only thing we've plenty of (watch that grammar, Othman) is federal clerks stabbed by their own paper spikes, conked by their slippery floors, and mangled by their electric fans.

A gruesome place is the government. The clerks work so hard in their headlong rush to serve the taxpayers that 49,000 of them a year suffer grievous injuries.

This is messy. It is almost impossible to get the blood stains out of the carpets. The clerks have got to be more careful and, in particular, quit chopping their fingers in the paper cutters. The damage to themselves (and the carpets) is bad enough, but what their piteous yelps do to the nerves of their co-workers is worse.

* * *

Throughout the government a mighty safety-first campaign has begun. The new rules are going to every laborer in this, the temple of the paper clip and the home of the 17-carbon letter. I am fortunate to get my hands, while they still are whole, upon a sample set of regulations as issued by A. E. Stockburger, assistant administrator for business management of the civil aeronautics administration:

Too many workers in the federal vineyard skin their shins on open filing-cabinet drawers. Too often the cabinet, itself, topples over and crunches their bones.

They must quit sitting on swivel chairs with weak bolts, cutting themselves with cracked glass on their desks, bruising their hips on pencil sharpeners, and tripping over their phone cords.

They should keep their fingers out of electric light sockets, fans (when same are fanning) and duplicating machines. Too often the federal derrieres are whacked by self-closing doors closing too soon.

The safety firsters have already abandoned hope that the clerks will give up spiking their hands, now they must abandon their spike files. They also must quit pinning papers together. Pins are dangerous. So are scissors. As for paper cutters, here's what Stockburger says:

"Employees using a paper cutter . . . should be careful to keep their fingers out from under the blade."

They certainly should. They also should keep an eye open for falling light fixtures. It is not good to be sitting under one of these. Causes headaches.

So dangerous is the government and so great the carnage that Stockburger urges cashes in each office of tourniquets, bandages, ointments, splints and, of course, spirits of ammonia for those who faint when wounded.

He means small offices. If it is a big one full of wastebaskets, splintery desks, loose doorknobs, chipped drinking glasses, stepladders and other monsters lurking among the help, then by all means it should have a dispensary.

I intend, whenever possible, to stay away from the civil aeronautics administration. I hate the sight of blood. Particularly my own.

Camera Fans Swap Goods

The "horse-trading" instincts of Mansfield camera fans will be given full sway when the Mansfield Photographic society holds "swap night" Tuesday at 8 p. m. in room 101 of the Farmers Bank building.

In the belief that there is a large supply of unused photographic equipment in the city, the group has opened the meeting to anyone who wants to buy, sell or swap anything in the camera line, Giles Hamilton vice president of the society said.

Acting as auctioneer will be Frank Goldsmith, club member.

John Smucker of the Albert Perez studio, will give a talk on the instruction he received while attending the Winona School of Photography last summer.

Window Shopper Injured In Fall

Mrs. Metzler was quoted by police as saying she was window-shopping and didn't realize that the lift doors were open. Freight was being unloaded at the time of the accident, officers said.

ERIE STATIONS DIESEL IN YARD

Locomotive First of Type Assigned to Mansfield.

A new 380-horsepower, two-motor diesel electric switching locomotive operated today in the Erie railroad's Mansfield yards.

The only full-time switching engine stationed here, the diesel promised to aid the city's campaign to eliminate smoke.

J. W. Gilkerson, Erie agent, said the locomotive, working 10 to 12 hours a day, would switch an average of about 200 cars. Built by the American Locomotive company and General Electric company at Schenectady, it is the first oil-burning locomotive assigned to duty by any railroad in Mansfield.

A second Erie switching locomotive doubles also on the road on lines out of the city.

Senior High Pupil Praises Work of Scout Organizations

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of interviews with active workers in organizations and agencies which are aided by the Mansfield Community Fund.)

Five and a half years as a Mansfield Girl Scout has given Senior Scout Betty Jane Garver some definite ideas on what Scouting affords the future women of the community.

"Scouting teaches the girls to play fair and to share and work with others," Betty Jane said. "Once you get established in a troop, every member of the troop seems like a sister. I think this is because you work together constantly.

"You see, I'm particularly interested in Scouting since I want to make a career of it," she added.

The 15-year-old Senior high school sophomore rates homemaking as her favorite Scouting course.

"Home-making comes first with me," she said, quickly adding, "next to out-door activities. Homemaking in Scouting always seems to be more fun than if you learn it at home."

For background for her future work Betty Jane has been taking advantage of every chance to attend Girl Scout camp sessions. Four years she has attended the Girl Scout Day camp at Camp Niniwan on the Greter's lake road. For two years she attended the Girl Scout session at Camp Nelson Dodd. This summer she ventured beyond the area and enrolled in Camp Ken-Jockety, Girl Scout encampment near Columbus.

Betty Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Garver, 495 Lexington avenue.

SET TO FILE FUND REQUEST

City Expected to File Airport Application Monday.

Preliminary application for federal aid in the construction of an administration building at Mansfield airport will probably be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Authority early next week, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today.

Forms for applying for financial help were received today by the city following a conference in Columbus Thursday of city and CAA officials.

Filing of the application does not assure the city of help, the CAA wrote in a letter with the forms. Neither does it establish any obligation between the city and the CAA.

CAA Airport Engineer E. H. Scofield wrote, however, "it is necessary that these completed forms be received in this office as soon as possible if your airport is to be placed in the program for the current year."

The government may pay as much as 50 per cent of the cost of an administration building if the aid application is approved.

LOTS OF COAL MOVES

CLEVELAND —(AP)— For the third time on record, bituminous coal shipments handled in southern Lake Erie ports have passed the 8,000,000-ton mark. September tonnage of 8,086,369 compared with 8,379,468 in August, the Iron and Coal Exchange reported.

CHIEF'S EYE SHARP—

Police Chief Meade K. Bates Thursday gave other members of the force something to shoot at when he scored a 98 out of a possible 100 while firing the FBI pistol course on the police range west of town. The chief failed to collect points on only one shot which went through a coat sleeve on the silhouette target.

Only member of the force who has scored a higher record is Paul Martin who chalked up a 98.6 in 1941. A high score is made difficult by the course requirements. The marksman must get off 50 shots in five minutes and 45 seconds from positions seven, 25, 50 and 60 yards away from the target. He must fire several shots with the left hand, if he is normally right handed. In order to continue getting in practice police have turned to re-loading cartridges, because of the shortage of new ammunition.

21 PLATFORM POINTS BACK GOV. LAUSCHE

Delegates Refuse to Handle Boyd's Motion Seeking Action On Meat.

COLUMBUS —(AP)—Unanimous party support of Gov. Frank J. Lausche and his 21-point platform advertised today that purported rifts in the Democratic party had been healed in a howling one-day convention.

No whit of dissatisfaction was evident yesterday as more than 400 accredited Democratic state delegates went down the line for a platform devoted primarily to a 4,000-word praise of the governor, and the promise of continuation of his policies.

The Independent Clevelander, seeking reelection, trumpeted that independence in one section of his speech at the convention's climactic banquet, saying:

". . . My campaign will be very limited. The limits . . . are mandatory because of the limitations that I have placed upon the collection of funds.

". . .I want to be my own master in my second term as I have been in my first."

Reliable sources reported that the platform—supposedly drafted by the governor's closest advisers—was handed the state convention's platform committee with the understanding that it must stand—or fall—word for word.

The governor, this same source said, personally approved the only amendment, an addition to the section dealing with labor. That was the work of Jacob Clayman, Ohio CIO legislative agent.

While this party solidarity still was new, the governor stepped to the convention's rostrum and charged that his Republican opponent, Thomas J. Herbert, was "wooing the support of those who do not want law and order."

"I know this to be a fact," declared Lausche.

Meat Issue Sidetracked.

Hottest political subject of the day was a proposal by William M. Boyd of Cleveland that the convention ask President Truman to take steps immediately to end the meat shortage.

With less than 10 per cent of the delegates venturing a ballot, the convention defeated a motion to table, defeated a motion to adjourn and defeated the motion itself.

Boyd dragged the snubbed proposal from the resolution committee, which had refused to entertain it, onto the convention floor.

"The only argument against the resolution," he told the convention in referring to committee action, "was that, as Democrats, we should not embarrass the president."

OSU Grads See Movies

Forty Ohio State university alumni of the Richland County association and two guests yesterday saw movies of the Ohio State-Missouri football game at a noon luncheon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The film was brought to Mansfield by Edward Weaver, field secretary of the alumni society who explained the plays and identified the players.

Future showings of OSU football games are planned for noon luncheons each Friday. The showings are for former "Ohio Staters" only, Dr. Harry Knox, president of the Richland County Alumni club said.

Guests at yesterday's meeting were Jack Parker, J. A. McDermid and Paul Cropper. Next Friday's film will show the Ohio State-Southern California game.
